

Access conditions Bunge port terminals

Third Party Inspection Agencies

This policy outlines the access that will be provided for Third Party Inspection Agencies (TPIA) or Superintending Companies to Bunge Port Terminals for the purpose of collecting final shipping samples on behalf of export customers.

Bunge has a direct commercial relationship with its export customers. It is a requirement that these customers must advise Bunge, prior to vessel arrival, that they have contracted a TPIA or Superintending Company to collect final shipping samples on their behalf. Such advice must be by written authorisation. Bunge will accept specific instructions in the comments section of customer bookings made in Ezigrain as written authorisation.

Bunge has responsibility for the safety of anyone who enters its terminals. TPIA or Superintending Company staff must comply with all Bunge safety policies and directions while on any Bunge site.

TPIA or Superintending Company staff must also comply with any port access or maritime security requirements that may be applicable when entering any Bunge sites.

It is the customer's responsibility to ensure that the TPIA or Superintending Company staff are aware of, and fully compliant with, Bunge's conditions contained within this protocol.

Third Party Inspection Agencies (TPIA) and Superintending companies on site:

- All TPIA and Superintending Company staff requiring access to a Bunge terminal must undergo all necessary site and safety SHE induction training.
- A local Bunge contact will be provided to the TPIA or Superintending Company for each Bunge terminal in relation to any queries or requests. Please refer to the full contact details for all Bunge sites included in this document below.
- All access conditions, sample requirements, certificates, data and other expectations should be clearly understood and documented by the export customer on the Bunge Ezigrain booking form(s) prior to commencement of vessel.
- TPIA and Superintending Company staff may be provided escorted access to operational areas by prior agreement. TPIAs and Superintending Company staff must not enter operational areas unless approved by Bunge terminal management and accompanied by a Bunge employee.
- If requested by the customer, Bunge will provide the TPIA or Superintending Company with 500mt running samples (or as requested, but no less than 500mt). However Bunge will only recognise loading directions from its customer.
- Bunge will provide TPIA or Superintending Company personnel with regular tonnage updates and final vessel/hatch tonnages, however Bunge will not provide information as to the cells and/or grades being loaded.
- TPIA and Superintending Company personnel are able to monitor the loading of a vessel but will not be permitted to enter any Bunge Terminal control room and must not interfere with operational matters. Issues such as requests for additional tonnage at the end of a vessel, why a delay occurs, etc are between Bunge and the agent/customer.
- Bunge will not at any time discuss or provide to TPIAs or Superintending Companies, information that may be considered commercially confidential.
- Upon completion of loading, TPIAs and Superintending Companies may collect samples at a designated point from the Bunge terminal in accordance with the instructions provided by the Bunge customer along with weights and other agreed information.
- Bunge will provide TPIAs and Superintending Companies with copies of weigher testing certificates, and request for these certificates should be directed to Bunge's Shipping Services Manager.
- The collection of samples by Bunge will be charged for in accordance with Bunge's Pricing Procedures and Protocol Manual.
